

GA Students Tackle Big Projects at Ambler's SAAC

Rebecca Aranow (above left) organizes some material that will be used to decorate a new blanket for Project Linus and her friends, at right, (l to r) Ebony Rhodes, Lauren Wyszomierski, Tracy Duryea, Carly Hillman, Lily Horner, Katherine Hess, Nia Hall, Natalie Hall, Kristen Johnson and Alison Ke stand in front of some of their handiwork at the Ambler Senior Adult Activities Center. These students, and others from Germantown Academy, used the Martin Luther King Day of Service to volunteer for a number of projects at the center. The children from the lower school through grade 7, assisted with the Meals on Wheels program and also prepared for future projects revolving around the Alex's Lemonade charity. The effort was coordinated by GA students Tynetta Alston and Jocelyn Hillman.
